On Friday, March 9, 2012 from 8:00 p.m. to midnight, DeFiant Flower Entertainment in association with Black Fox Lounge and LFP Media presents Indie Artist NiQue at the Black Fox Lounge located at 1723 Connecticut Avenue in Washington, D.C.

A rising star in the independent music scene, NiQue released her introductory single, “When I’m Home” as an anthem for the Delaware, Maryland and Virginia area (DMV).

“I wanted to do a song that would represent who I am, where I come from and [would] put an independent artist from the DMV area on the map,” NiQue said.

Since the song’s debut over 45,000 viewers — and counting— have logged on YouTube and Facebook to support her.

Her performance at Black Fox Lounge will be the first time that fans and supporters will have the opportunity to hear new music from “The Q is Capital.”

This event will be special for another reason. NiQue is passionate about fighting homelessness. She founded the non-profit organization “Gregory-Leon Hand to Man” Foundation and is using the event to raise money and awareness of the plight of homeless men. The proceeds from the event will benefit the organization.

Joseph Wilson, manager of NiQue, and CEO of DeFiant Flower talked about the seriousness of the homeless, especially for men.

“The reason that NiQue is passionate about homelessness is very personal. As we drive around the DC area, we see men of all ages and races out on the street unable to provide not only for themselves, but for their families. These men feel hopeless because they can’t find work or assistance. To add insult to injury, they can’t be with their families because some non-profit agencies make it impossible for them to be with their families. It is easier for a woman to get help for herself and children, if the man is not in the picture. That is why we are raising awareness about this problem,” Wilson said.
